It is an authority, it is the great controller and inspector, with power and authority.

His work is political, not only state, he is the natural leader of the community, freely chosen by citizens.

That is your Delegate! Take care of him and help him so he can do his job.

Delegate Functions

Provincial and municipal administrations maintain close working relationships with the Popular Councils of their territorial demarcations. In this sense, they analyze and respond to the approaches they receive from the latter and from the constituency delegates.

Delegates fulfill the mandate conferred on them by their constituents, in the interest of the entire community, for which they must coordinate their functions as such, with their usual responsibilities and tasks. The law regulates the way in which these functions are carried out. Delegates to the Municipal Assemblies of the Popular Power have the rights and obligations attributed to them by the Constitution and laws and in particular they are obliged to:

- make known to the Assembly and the Administration of the locality the opinions, needs and difficulties transmitted to them by their constituents;

- inform its constituents about the policy followed by the Assembly and the measures taken to solve the needs posed by the population or the difficulties that arise in resolving them;

- Periodically inform their constituents of their personal management, and inform the Assembly or the Commission to which they belong, on the fulfillment of the tasks entrusted to them, when they claim it.

IMPORTANT "About the office"

The delegate has the duty and obligation of systematic contact with the population, attending and making viable the issues raised.

If the dispatch system is fulfilled, the delegate maintains the permanent link and the electors are attended to in a timely manner.

The disclosure must be in public places (day of the week, time and fixed place).

The approach must be recorded with the date of the day it was made, the answer, solution or information given.

The delegate delivers the registered approaches and the procedures carried out for their solution in the AMPP Secretariat between 1 and 8 of each month.

Integrated community work

Of the procedure to develop the Integrated Community Work

"It is important to specify that not all actions in a locality constitute community work, even when it solves problems or needs of the population, or involves all or part of its neighbors in the execution of a task; neither because there are projects or financing are we in the presence of community work, because it is more than the intervention that proposes and promotes the solution of a problem. Community work is a process of transformation that involves human development, and that the community dreams, plans, conducts, executes and evaluates with full participation... "(" Manual of Good Practices "CIE Graciela Bustillos.)

Community Work

Integrated for the Local Bodies of Popular Power, it is first and foremost a method in which it will be expressed, which is the Popular Power and our socialist society. It is a way of acting when activities are conceived, organized and executed at community level. Any work experience that is developed at the level of the constituency or of the Popular Council cannot be isolated from the work carried out by organizations, institutions, residents and social factors, this should allow not only everyone to participate, but also and the diversity of issues and interests that exist in social life in each place be addressed comprehensively. The development or predominance of one sector over another leads to unbalanced work where efforts do not give positive results.
